Dear Sir:

As we reflect over the year's activities, we recall many pleasant experiences and wonderful people we meet at various functions throughout the country. I can assure you, however, that none was more pleasant than when I appeared as Toastmaster at your I.A.C.P. Banquet at the Statler Hotel in Washington, D. C., Wednesday evening, October 5. I have been meaning to write this letter for some time, but as you may know, I am out of town more than I am in.

It was a long-to-be-remembered experience as it afforded me an opportunity to make new acquaintances and to renew old friendships that extended back to the time when, as a member of the Illinois General Assembly, I was the sponsor of the minimum wage bill for police and firemen. Some of the old buddies that I worked with in having this legislation enacted were in attendance at your convention and meeting them brought back many fond memories.

May I congratulate you and the other members of I.A.C.P. on your selection of Chief Robert Murray of Washington as President of your Organization. Chief Murray is a dedicated public servant and his career should be an inspiration to every American.

Trusting you will give me a call on your next visit to Washington and extending to you and yours my every good wish, I am,

Sincerely,

Cal D. Johnson
Consultant on Public Affairs
